30 KILLED IN FIGHT

Lodz Scene of Violence, Disorder and Death.

A GREAT STRIKE MOVEMENT

Troops Encountered Strikers On the Streets and Opened Fire Upon Them—Business Is at a Standstill, and Grave Fears Entertained.

Lodz, Aug. 2.—This city is again the scene of a great strike movement accompanied by violence, disorder and death.

The troops have encountered the strikers in the center of the town, and some thirty men have been killed or wounded in this fight alone.

Business is at a standstill, and fears are entertained of what the day may bring forth.

The trouble came to a head Wednesday, and in spite of the aggressive stand taken by the authorities, the disorders are recommencing.

The situation is serious; it would appear to be the beginning of a big labor war, and the workmen's unions are prepared for a long struggle.

The immediate cause of the outbreak Wednesday was the course pursued by th epolice during the past eight days in making a large number of arrests in attempts to break up the unions.

The principal socialist leaders have been thrown in jail. The police have been so energetic in their movements against [illegible] have united the [illegible] Polish socialists a[illegible] N[illegible] parties who, up to the present time, have been waging a merciless war, accompanied by daily murders and outrages, among themselves.

General Strike.

A general strike has been declared, and the Social Democrats and the Polish Socialists have called out 32,000 men. The Nationalists have been forced to join the committee of the Amalgamated Unions.

The committee has ordered that all business in Lodz cease.

Stores have been told to close, and the power house of the electric traction system has been shut down. The committee is enforcing its orders with armed men, and several shopkeepers who refused to shut up, have been shot.

Wednesday bands of laborers were sent out in the city to wreck street cars. This they did in a number of cases, and later they used the cars as barricades from which to stone the police.

During the calling out of the strikers one factory foreman and two storekeepers were killed and two laborers were mortally wounded. The disorder grew as the day wore on. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon the military forces were mobilized, but there was no engagement with the workmen until 9 o'clock Wednesday night. At that hour the opposing forces came together in the center of the town. The fighting was serious and prolonged. The workmen fired several hundred shots from automatic pistols and did not disperse until they had been charged by cavalry. At least thirty men were killed or wounded. Ambulances at once cleared the thoroughfares of the dead bodies. Among the dead is a German subject.

The town was patrolled constantly Wednesday night by detachments of Cossacks and dragoons.

Treated at Public Expense.

London, Aug. 2.—In convention at Exeter, the British Medical association has almost unanimously supported a contention advanced by a member that sick people should be treated at public expense. In discussing the idea the points were made that the physician's work is now done under conditions involving the petty worries of fee collection, the stress of competitive commercialism and the sweating of the profession by hospitals, friendly societies and similar organizations. The increasing number of cases treated at voluntary or state-aided institutions was a phase of the movement.

GEORGIA LEGISLATURE.

Disfranchisement Bill Has Been Passed by the Senate.

Atlanta, Aug. 2.—On Wednesday morning [illegible] passed the Felder-Williams disfranchisement bill by a vote of 37 to 6. This being more than a two-thirds vote, required to amend the constitution, the bill will be sent to the house, and when passed by them will be submitted to the people for their ratification.

The Joe Hill Hall anti-pass bill came up for consideration in the house during the fall session of 1906, but was temporarily tabled pending the printing of it for distribution among the members and was made the special commnons order for Tuesday, Aug. 6, immediately after the confirmation of the journal.

Bills to the number of 671 have been introduced in the house thus far, and the end is not yet in sight. Some of these will never come up for passage in their regular order, unless there should be called an extra session of the general assembly.

No More Sunday Fishing.

Among the more important bills passed, and there were only a few acted upon, was that of Mr. White, of Screven, which makes fishing on the Sabbath day in Georgia punishable as for a misdemeanor. This bill will be fought in the senate by the seacoast counties of Georgia.

An important meeting of the general judiciary committee was held at which time the Overstreet-Borne [illegible] which time the Overstreet-Borne [illegible] ator Williford, relative to the time of telegraph operators to remain on duty, and the Borne bill relative to the liability of employees, were discussed.

The bill by Mr. Alexander of De[illegible], to the effect that the purpose and policy of the state be to extend the Western and Atlantic railroad to the sea, and to operate the same, and the companion bill by Mr. Alexander authorizing an issue of bonds by the state for the extension of the Western and Atlantic railroad, were ordered returned to the house with the recommendation that they do pass, by the Western and Atlantic committee of the house.

TO MAKE FIGHT.

Alabama Prohibitionists Encouraged by Georgia Law.

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 2—Representative Hawley, author of the prohibition bill, encouraged by the Georgia outcome, says that he will make a fight for the measure. It has been adversed by the temperance committee, but he will try to get it up. As a matter of fact, it is not likely to pass either house.

A delegation of business men waited on the governor and told him that to close the saloons at 9 o'clock, as a bill on his desk provides, will greatly injure the city. He is asked to amend it by making the time 11 o'clock. It is not expected that he will do so.

News Taken Quietly.

Americus, Ga., Aug. 2.—Americus liquor dealers and citizens who believe the prohibition law will prove an iniquitous measures, accept the results and those engaged in the business will go to other states or else pursue other avocations. Eight thousand dollars is paid annually into the ing business here, and the loss of this ing business here, and to loss of this will doubtless be felt in the curtailment of municipal improvements. News of the result was received here without the ringing of bells or other demonstration. Americus has tried prohibition and understands the meaning fully, although a very large element here heartily favor the new law.

Found Dead In Bed.

Decatur, Ala., Aug. 1.—Lucius Yarbrough, of Lewisburg, Tenn., was found dead in bed Wednesday morning in his rooms over Lampkin & Tomason's office. Mr. Yarbrough was on the street at 8 o'clock and said he would go to his room, as he had a chill. The doctor pronounced it a congestive chill. Mr. Yarbrough's remains were shipped to Lewisburg, Tenn., for burial. He leaves a large family to mourn his loss.

PREDICTS CIVIL WAR

Congressman Jenkins on North Carolina Imbroglio.

STATES AGAINST THE NATION

"Talk of State Authorities Resisting Federal Power by Armed Force, Will Sooner or Later End in Bloodshed," He Says.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., Aug. 2.—Congressman Jenkins, chairman of the house judiciary committee, has issued a statement relative to the North Carolina railroad rate imbroglio. He said there has never been any event since the civil war that calls for no severe condemnation as the recent senseless tirade on behalf of states against the nation. He adds that it is humiliating that the matter has been compromised and that the nation has to some extent surrendered.

"The civil war was the result of such agitation and we may have earlier than we want, another civil war," he said.

"To avert such a calamity and preserve the nation, we must conform to the law, obey the law and have the law enforced according to the frame work provided in the constitution."

Governors Should Keep Cool.

Judge Jenkins points out that the supreme court of the United States is made the final judge between state and nation. Mr. Jenkins believes the executive of state should keep cool, maintain his dignity and remember we have to depend upon the judiciary of the country to save the union.

Ever since the civil war," he said, "other states have had similar trouble and did not make fools of themselves or declare war and the questions involved were decided by the supreme court and no bad results followed.

"If all state authorities are going to usurp functions of the supreme court and judge that a federal act shall be nullified, no one can tell where it will end."

Mr. Jenkins says he is opposed to weakening the power of both state and nation, and calls attention to the fact that the state has the remedy in the supreme court if the nation encroaches upon its rights.

"Why should state authorities declare they will exercise every power at their command to prevent such consummation?" he asks. "This is an unlawful attempt to oppose lawful efforts."

"This continual talk about state authorities resisting federal power by armed force will sooner or later end in bloodshed, possibly in the disruption of the union."

Supreme Court Decision Final.

In concluding, Mr. Jenkins said the supreme court of the United States may err. It may differ from the views of a greater majority of the people, but however that may be, the constitution says its decision is final, and must be regarded as the supreme law of the land and that is what must govern us.

"Better live under a wrong decision than amidst anarchy that must prevail in this country if each state authority is going to disregard the constitution of the United States and asserts its own power, right or wrong, in defiance of the national power, thereby weakening and absolutely disregarding this great government that has cost so many generations so much to make and preserve it."

Honors Won By Georgian.

Oxford, Eng., Aug. 2.—American holders of the Rhodes scholarship are prominent in the list of honors that have been awarded in the finals of the school of modern history. Six American scholars are mentioned, headed by J. H. Kirkpatrick, of Alabama, who is among nine students to gain first-class honors. R. T. Brooks, of Georgia, won third-class honors.

WILL FOLLOW GLENN.

Alabama Will Test the New Railroad Law.

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 2.—Governor Comer has been in consultation with the attorneys of the state, and there is an impression that some action is contemplated with regard to the suits against the state by the railroad companies.

Several rate laws have been enjoined in the federal court, making a situation very much like that in North Carolina. As a number of them went into effect on passage and the criminal feature is in force, it is not at all unlikely that some grand jury may indict, and arrests at any time may follow. This is the way it started in North Carolina.

It is also thought that in case there is not authority enough in the laws as they now stand, the governor will call an extra session of the legislature to make them so. The laws of Alabama allow an act to be enjoin and suspended, while it may be enjoined in North Carolina only. However, the courts have held that the United States court 'cannot enjoin criminal action, and if there is indictment and arrests on this line it will bring out the issue at once.

There is a sentiment in the legislatur to uphold the executive and he has indicted that he will call an extra session shortly, possibly about the time the criminal laws go into effect.

MAKE PARK A FAIRYLAND.

Millionaire Duke Beautifies Home for His Bride.

Somerville, N. J., Aug. 2.—In an effort to make his 2,000 acre park like a fairyland, with gushing fountains, cascades and beautiful lakes for his bride during a honeymoon, James B. Duke, president of the American Tobacco company, has pumped the Raritan river at this point nearly dry.

Mr. Duke has on his estate artificial lakes covering an area of several hundred acres, besides innumerable fountains and waterfalls. These are supplied from the Raritan river by a pumping station.

In honor of his bride, Mr. Duke ordered his fountains to be run to their fullest capacity during his honeymoon.

On Wednesday there was scarcely enough water left in the wells of the Raritan Woolen mills to keep the boilers going, where one thousand persons are employed, and operations were brought to a standstill.

To relieve the situation, Mr. Duke's manager ordered the pumping station closed down.

PREDICTED HER DEATH.

Premonition of New Jersey Woman Comes True.

Egg Harbor City, August 2.—Mrs. A. Nichols, wife of a farmer near Germania, had a premonition several weeks ago of approaching death and told her husband that she would not live until August. Tuesday, after working in the field until late, she said:

"My days and life's work is done, but before I die I will take my last bath."

Her husband paid no attention to her remarks but when he returned to the house he found her dead in bed. Physicians said that she died from natural causes.

The woman was 60 years old and had always been in good health.

Outcome of Holy War.

Tangier, Aug. 2.—Doctor Merle, who arrived here Wednesday on the German ship which brought a number of Jews and other refugees from Casablanca, is a bearer of a report to the French [illegible] d'affaires here, showing the [illegible] slaughter of Europeans in Casablanca was an outcome of a holy war preached by the Arabs for the extermination of Europeans.

Massacre of Foreigners.

Paris, Aug. 2.—The cruiser Forbin, now at Azores, has been ordered to go immediately to Casablanca, where a massacre of foreigners occurred Wednesday. Two cruisers at Toulon have also been ordered by the minister of marine to prepare to leave for the same destination.

CRIME IN NEW YORK

Four Night Courts Necessary Instead of One.

MAGISTRATES SO DECIDE

For One Week Between 4 and 2 O'Clock, It Is Said, the Number of Arrests Averaged Three Hundred and Seventy-One a Day.

New York, Aug. 2.—There is so much crime in New York after dark that it probably will be necessary to establish four night courts instead of one, which is to be formally opened in Jefferson Market.

The suggestion was made at a recent meeting of the board of magistrates after it had been stated that every prisoner arrested between 4 o'clock in the afternoon and 2 o'clock in the morning, in the entire forty-two precincts of Manhattan, would have to be arraigned in the one court and that in the first seven days of July, the number of arrests in these hours had made an average of 371 a day.

BANKER'S TRAGIC END.

Fatal Accident at Swimming Pool in Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Aug. 2—Edmund R. Watson, president of the Northern National bank and treasurer of the Henry Hess Brewing company, of this city, met death early Thursday in the swimming pool of the Columbia club, one of the leading social organiations of the city.

Owing to the reticence of members of the club, some mystery at first surrounded the tragic end of the banker's life. This was dispelled, however, when it was given out by several members that Mr. Watson's death was accidental.

According to these members, Mr. Watson was standing on the springing board and was about to dive into the pool when he slipped and fell. His head struck the concrete coping of the pool and he sank to the bottom. The janitor was summoned, and with the aid of a long pole, Mr. Watson was taken from the water in an unconscious condition. He was hurried to a hospital, where he was pronounced dead by the physicians.

Mr. Watson was about 50 years of age.

FIRE AT POOR FARM.

Threatened Great Destruction for a While.

Pittsburg, Aug. 2.—The fire at Marshalsea, Pittsburg's city poor farm, which broke out at 10 o'clock Wednesday night and for several hours threatened destruction to all the buildings on the grounds, was confined to the buildings used as the laundry, bake shop, inmates kitchen and chapel. These structures were nearly destroyed with a loss of $50,000.

While the fire was in progress, six of the employes who were fighting the flames, were caught under a falling wall. Samuel Means, was crushed to death and Larkin was so seriously injured that his recovery is very doubtful. The others were not dangerously hurt. The fire was caused by the explosion of a water heater.

Nearly 500 insane inmates were housed in the main building which adjoined the laundry, but they were all removed to the cottages on the outskirts of the grounds without trouble.

Charged with Counterfeiting.

Honolulu, via San Francisco, Aug. 2—United States Marshal Hendry has arrested several Koreans charged with counterfeiting ten dollar gold pieces. The bogus coins are of very good quality so far as appearances go, but lack weight and ring.

Thaw Selects Counsel.

New York, Aug. 2.—Martin W. Littleton, of Brooklyn, has been selected by Harry K. Thaw to conduct Thaw's next trial on a charge of killing Stanford White.

A [illegible] GIRL'S SAD, SAD MISTAKE

Leaving Her Happy Home To Join A Cold-Blooded Villain.

SHACKLEFORD IS MARRIED MAN

H. L. Shackleford, an Incompetent Linotype Operator, Blasts the Life of His Own Wife and That of a Promising Young Woman of Ocala.

(Ocala Evening Star.)

Miss Margaret Caldwell took a step Tuesday night that has caused her [illegible] untold anguish and involved her in trouble that it is not likely a lifetime will extricate her from.

The young lady went out visiting some friends Tuesday evening, returned about 11 o'clock. She put some of her clothes in a bundle cut and took a hack to the Seaboard station, where she took the train for Jacksonville. Her absence was not discovered until [illegible] the next morning. The condition of her room and the bundle she had taken led her friends were too grieved [illegible] at first to know what to do, else they might have saved her from [illegible] publicity.

[illegible] knowledge of her [illegible] was a telegram from [illegible] that morning, announcing that [illegible] H. L. Shackleford were [illegible] at a hotel in that city under the name of S. S. Eve and wife.

An Unwholesome Scamp.

Of all the scamps that have visited [illegible] of late years, Shackleford is [illegible] the most unwholesome. He came here to take the night shift on the Linotype about April 1, and [illegible] the worst April fool [illegible] ever received. He was [illegible] incompetent, and the only [illegible] he was allowed to stay [illegible] he had entirely too much [illegible] for one man, and just then, [illegible] off number.

He had a wife in Tampa—[illegible] Miss Elinor Richardson, who [illegible] her childhood near Ocala before [illegible] with her parents to the [illegible] Shackleford left her without [illegible] reason for doing so. [illegible] then he began paying assiduous attention to Miss Caldwell, pretending all the while to be a single man. She became infatuated with him—how [illegible] her friends never dreamed, [illegible] could have saved her. Although [illegible] incompetent workman, he [illegible] in society, particularly [illegible] circles, and so imposed on [illegible] people of the Methodist [illegible] that they gave him the hand [illegible] and admitted him to an [illegible] place in their choir.

[illegible] Shackleford's wife, [illegible] was on the verge of con- [illegible] and for her sake her mother [illegible] persuaded him to visit her, [illegible] a day or two, for badly as he [illegible] her, woman-like, she lov- [illegible] still. To all these appeals [illegible] answered silence, indifference, or [illegible] he believe crushed in words [illegible] of a sick woman were bitterly [illegible]

Wife's Patience Exhausted.

This long-suffering wife's patience [illegible] one day and about June 1 she came [illegible] Ocala and had Shackleford arrested. Everyone was so disgusted with his conduct that he could obtain no bond, so he went to jail and would have received a sentence at hard labor and all his wife relented. On his [illegible] promise, binding himself to pay [illegible], they allowed him to be released. His wife and mother-in-law were very kind to him on his promise to do better. They paid his debts in Ocala, which were considerable, paid his board two weeks ahead at the [illegible] and then returned to Tampa.

Although he had no employment, Shackleford hung around Ocala for [illegible] weeks. It now seems that he [illegible] in communication with Miss Caldwell. Her friends, of course, supposed that on finding him out she would let him drop, but they were sadly [illegible]. He finally went to Jacksonville to work on The Times-Union, but at least once since then he has returned to try and obtain an interview with Miss Caldwell.

Two weeks ago last Sunday, when Shackleford was supposed to be in Jacksonville, he met Miss Caldwell and another young lady at Silver [illegible]. A brother of Miss Caldwell was also with the girls when Shackleford met them.

Life fair with promise was opening before this young girl, and why she blasted her future for the sake of such a contemptible specimen of humanity is one of the things past finding out. She deserves pity rather than blame, but the only excuse for Shackleford is the fact that to those who know him best his mind has seemed as unsound as his conscience.

As soon as information was received here of his whereabouts Judge Bell issued a warrant for his arrest, sworn out by the girl's foster father, and Sheriff Gordon forwarded the warrant to the sheriff in Jacksonville, telegraphing him to arrest Shackleford at once and hold him pending the arrival of the warrant and an officer later.

The penalty in Florida for this kind of an offense—it is really several offenses, as the man is married—is very severe, and this fastidious villain will get a plenty before the courts of this State are through with him, and his fascinating youth is likely to vanish before he is again turned loose on the much abused public.

BLIND TIGERS AT HIGH SPRINGS

Two Arrests Thursday For Illicit Sale of Whiskey.

DETERMINED TO STOP TRAFFIC

Large Quantities of Liquor Found on Premises of J. W. Williams and L. H. Bartley, Who Are Arrested and Will Have to Answer Before Court.

Two more alleged blind tigers have come to grief at High Springs. Marshal C. C. Harwell of that town having taken into custody, on last Thursday, J. W. Williams and L. H. Bartley on the charge of selling whiskey in a dry county. It is said that Revs. J. L. Yates, E. B. Clark and J. L. Grimes were largely instrumental in uncovering the "lair" of these "tigers," and that while the actual exchange of money will not figure in the evidence, a sufficient quantity of "booze" of various brands was found on the premises to leave no doubt of what it was there for.

The people of High Springs have been cursed with the illicit sale of whiskey ever since the county was voted dry four years ago, and it is strange that the good people of the town have not exercised greater efforts to put a stop to the infernal traffic. They have at last become aroused, however, and are determined to put a stop to it, and they should have the unqualified support of every law-abiding citizen.

Sheriff Fennell has not had the support in the past that he should have had in his efforts to run down the "blind tiger" operators, but the indications are that the people have awakened to the situation and will lend him their united assistance in the future. He will see to it that the parties arrested Thursday are arraigned before the bar of the circuit court.

Scruggs Bros., the new plumbers, have opened their shop in the Bauknight building, near Crawford & Davis, and are prepared to furnish the public with anything connected with the plumbing business. They are practical plumbers and will bid on any and all work, and it would be to the advantage of those interested to receive bids from them before giving an order.

A. J. Trapp, one of the successful colored farmers of the Jonesville section, was in town yesterday and called at The Sun office and renewed his subscription. It is gratifying to note a steadily increasing interest on the part of the negroes in public affairs, especially among the better element, and the Trapp family have always been numbered among the latter element in this county.

Jesse Burtz, city editor of The Sun, returned last night from an outing of ten days at Daytona Beach, and will resume his reportorial duties today. During his absence the local work has been done by J. R. Merchant, business manager of the paper, with what assistance the editor could render in that line, and of all of Jesse's numerous friends none are more glad to see him back than these two gentlemen.

MARRIED IN GEORGIA.

H. F. Smith and Miss Pinie Horne Unite Fortunes.

While Mr. H. F. Smith went to Metcalf, Ga., several days ago only those in whom he had confided had the remotest idea that he intended to return with a bride. Such was the case, however, and on Sunday, July 28, he was married in the Georgia town to Miss Pinie Horne, one of the most popular and winsome young ladies of that place. The happy couple arrived in Gainesville Tuesday and are making their home with Mrs. Perry at 902 E. Orange street.

Mr. Smith is well and favorably known in Alachua county, especially in the East End, and his numerous friends wish him and his bride unalloyed happiness in their married life.

Arthur Doyle to Become a Benedict.

A. J. Doyle—genial, clever, entertaining Arthur Joseph Doyle—is to become a benedict. On Thursday morning, August 15, he will be united in the holy bonds of wedlock to Miss Mary Norwood of Perry, Ga. If Arthur casts the same rays of sunshine about his home that he has been noted for in the hotel lobbies wherever he registered during the many years he has been on the road, the lot of the future Mrs. Doyle will indeed be a happy one. Probably no traveling man ever had more friends than Arthur Doyle has, and each and every one of them extend him hearty congratulations in advance.

Children in Pain

Never cry as do children who are suffering from hunger. Such is the cause of all babies who cry and are treated for sickness, when they really are suffering from hunger. This is caused from their food not being assimilated but devoured by worms. A few doses of White's Cream Vermifuge will cause them to cease crying and begin to thrive at once. Give it a trial. Sold by W. M. Johnson.

ETHICS AND LOYALTY.

That Albert Jennings of Pensacola numbers his friends in Florida by the thousands there is not the least doubt, and while these friends regret that he will not be a candidate for Governor they cannot help but admire the loyalty of the man who then sacrifices the ambition of a lifetime, when the goal was apparently within his reach. For our part, we have admired Albert Jennings from the time we formed his acquaintance at the Ocala convention, when he was selected delegate to the National Democratic convention at Chicago which nominated Bryan, and he can rest assured that he has elevated himself in the estimation of the people by the manly announcement concerning his anticipated candidacy for the Governorship. It has the true ring of the genuine article, of a man who would make Florida a Governor of whom every citizen of the commonwealth could be justly proud, who would reflect credit upon himself and the great State of which he was the chief magistrate, and we hope to live to see the day when his ambition will be gratified.

We take the following extract from Mr. Jennings' announcement, which appeared in The Pensacola Journal of August 1st:

"Fourteen years ago the people with whom I am now associated in business gave me the opportunity to make a new start in life. I had suffered severe financial reverses, having previously lost all the property I had in the world, and when the opportunity was presented I had nothing to offer in return but my health and a willing heart to work. These men have appealed to me within the past few weeks not to desert them now—a time when they cannot well afford to spare my services. There was a time when I needed their aid much more than they did mine, and now that the situation is, partially at least, reversed, I would be untrue both to myself and to them were I to disregard the appeal which they make. This is my only reason for not becoming a candidate. It may not be deemed sufficient by some, but thus far in my life no one has ever been able to accuse me of ingratitude, and my associates in business shall not do so now, even though it costs me the Governorship to remain loyal to them.

"From the assurances given me I am satisfied that I could be elected Governor, and those of my friends who have been made fully acquainted with the situation are of the same opinion. This does not, however, alter or lessen in any degree my obligation to the men with whom I have so long been associated in business. My friends may understand the sacrifice I am making when I say that it has been my ambition from my boyhood's earliest days to become Governor of my native State, and that in declining to become a candidate at this time I fully realize that so favorable an opportunity may never come to me again."

The Sun is in receipt of the Immigration Edition of The Industrial Record, published at Jacksonville. It is a mammoth edition of 132 pages, filled with interesting reading matter, handsomely illustrated, and the publishers are to be congratulated upon the success which has attended their enterprise. The front cover is especially attractive.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

The Postcard Is Cheaper.

We have a right to expect wisdom of the scientific, statistical brand from the international anti-alcohol congress of celebrated physicians and learned scientists now congregated in Stockholm, Sweden. But doctors are as prone to disagree over the effects of alcohol on the human system as any layman who never pried into the secrets of nature by assisting in cutting up a cadaver. "When doctors disagree who shall decide," applies as much to doctors of medicine as to doctors of law or doctors of divinity. In matters of science majorities do not rule, the dicta of ten thousand scientists, if false, is only ten thousand times as false as the dictum of one. The very fact that such a congress has been called, however, is a further instance of the wave of prohibition sentiment that is sweeping over Europe and America.—Times-Union.

GOT HIS HAIR BACK.

Was Perfectly Bald When He Started to Use Newbro's Herpicide.

Frederick Manuell, Maryland block, Butte, Montana, bought a bottle of Newbro's Herpicide, April 6, '06, and began to use it for entire baldness. The hair follicles in his scalp were not dead and in 20 days he had hair all over his head. On July 2 he writes, "and today my hair is as thick and luxuriant as any one could wish." Newbro's Herpicide works on an old principle and with a new discovery—destroy the cause and you remove the effect. Herpicide destroys the germ that causes dandruff, falling hair, and finally baldness, so that with the cause gone the effect cannot remain. Stops falling hair at once and a new growth starts. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

THE BLIND OF CAIRO.

To Be Found Everywhere in the Shops and on the Streets.

The first thing that impresses the stranger in Cairo is the number of blind—men, women and children—to be found everywhere in the shops and on the streets. Ophthalmia is very prevalent throughout Egypt. Because of superstition concerning "the evil eye" the native mothers of the middle or the lower class do not wash the eyes of their babies at all. Watching the flies buzzing unheeded around and upon these blind children, a stranger hastens to buy a fly whisk. These are for sale everywhere and are quite attractive with their ornaments of fancy beads and palm leaf fiber. Blind beggars greet one at every corner. Even in the high class Egyptian families there are many blind. The lower classes of Egyptians are given much to hasheesh—that is, the lower classes in the large cities—and, although it is against the law to sell it, one will have the hasheesh places pointed out, and the men who smoke the drug are seen everywhere. They are distinguished by the peculiar appearance of their eyes, which become red, swollen and baggy underneath, and by the pasting color of the skin, which resembles somewhat the skin of a Chinese opium smoker.—Harriet Quimby in Leslie's Weekly.

A LOST CONTRACT.

The Little Thing That May Sometimes Prevent a Sale.

A pen once lost me an order. I had just worked up the executive of a large concern into a desire to buy. I had my contract form lying on his desk with my finger on the dotted line. He reached over toward his pen rack, took off a pen and plunged it into the ink well. He turned to me with a frown on his face—the well was empty.

I was ready with a fountain pen. The pen was uncapped. I handed it to him. He started to write. The ink would not flow. I took it and shook it. Again he made the attempt, with no result.

"I will get one," he said. So he stepped into the other room. Evidently some one stopped him with a question, for he did not come back for three minutes. Then he stood at his desk. He looked down at the contract.

"I believe I had better think this matter over again," he said. And all the talk I put up could not budge him.

I had lost a sale because my fountain pen was empty. Now, one of my regular morning duties, week in and week out, just as regular as my shave and my checking over of calls to be made and the making out of my expense account, is filling my fountain pen.—James N. Bowen in System.

A Great Polyglot.

Solomon Caesar Malan habitually conversed with his children in Latin, but on his deathbed, when Solomon, his son, began to recite a psalm in the familiar Vulgate of his youth, the dying man, scholar to the last, muttered, "Non ita, non ita! Hebraice;" so the son repeated it in Hebrew.

He could, for that matter, just as well have said it in Coptic or Chinese, for to him all tongues came naturally. At eighteen he could write in thirteen languages, oriental and European, and among his published works we find translations from the Arabic, Persian, Syriac, Ethiopic, Hebrew, Coptic, Armenian, Georgian, Mongol, Chinese, Korean, Japanese, Greek, Russian, Welsh and Gothic. He is said to have learned to speak Armenian fluently in a fortnight, and he preached in Georgian to a Georgian congregation in the Cathedral of Kutais.—London Saturday Review.

A Patient Dog.

My brother has two dogs, one a large mastiff, the other a tiny Spitz which he can hold in the hollow of his hand. Don, the big dog, had been taught to lie down and face his food, but not to touch until the command, "Eat," had been given him. His mistress, in a hurry to leave for a day's shopping, gave Don his breakfast one day, but forgot the permission to "eat," and when she returned late that night the faithful dog lay with his paws on the plate of food, but not a particle had been touched!—Chicago Tribune.

Blunt Dr. Dougal.

Dr. Dougal of Keith, who was made an honorary member of the Aberdeen society in 1795, had a reputation for bluntness. A talkative woman went to him one day and said to him, "Doctor, what is the matter with my tongue?" "Just needin' a rest," he replied shortly. On another day a patient went to him and complained, "I have a deal to suffer with my eyes, doctor," whereupon he answered, "Better suffer with them than without."

Fancy Rice.

"I want some rice," said the haughty lady. "You have it for sale, have you not?"

"Sure, ma'am," replied the grocer. "Six cents a pound or two pounds for—"

"Oh, I must have the most expensive kind. It's for a very fashionable wedding."—Philadelphia Press.

THROWING THINGS AWAY.

The Time When You Weary of Hoarded Incumbrances.

"I am beginning to throw away things," said Mr. Flittergill, according to the New York Sun, "going through my papers and things and throwing them away.

"[illegible] newspaper clippings that I would never [illegible] but for its [illegible] I have for [illegible] that even the [illegible] for [illegible] I would [illegible] that [illegible] we bother [illegible] time we [illegible] long [illegible] now [illegible] much [illegible] those old [illegible] them are [illegible] and these [illegible] again, and [illegible] since been [illegible] time. Throw them away.

"Here are old [illegible] cards, pretty, with affectionate [illegible] greetings, [illegible] memories, though they [illegible] of the years that have [illegible] they came to us. And why should we preserve them longer? [illegible] member, we can cherish those who sent them without them to remind us, and they would only be there with the old papers in the drawers. To the basket gently with them.

"And here, as I live, are some old valentines! Well, well! This does make us young again. But, dear, dear, that was long ago. Why should we keep them longer? To the basket gently. We have the valentine herself now.

"There are so many things that we put away to save, to treasure. Life seems to stretch away interminably before us when we are young and we are going to keep these things always, and it takes us happily a long, long time to get where we can see the beginning of the end. Youth envelops us with a buoyancy and strength that make life seem a joy that is to go on forever, and in sturdy middle age, indeed, we take little account of the years, but then comes a time when we begin to realize that two and two make four and no more.

"Now, I have arrived at that time of life when I begin to know. Don't, for heaven's sake, think that I am taking a mournful view. Far from it.

"Life never seemed to me so full of joy as now, and I'm good for a good long stretch of it; yet, with senses keen and understanding broadening, finding enjoyment in everything and taking this broader view of things, not occupied too much by detail, this stored up accumulation of long gathering truck seems superfluous and useless, and so I'm just going through it and throwing things away.

"This lot that I've been going through today is just stuff that has accumulated in the cubbyholes in my desk, but I've got boxes and bundles of such stuff stored away, and I must get it out, a box or a bundle at a time, and go through it and throw it away, for of what use will it ever be to anybody? What becomes of this sort of stuff, anyway, when people—er-r—I mean why shouldn't I sort this stuff out now myself and not leave it to cumber things up for somebody else to throw away?

"There may be some things, to be sure, that I'll want to save, things that other people will want to keep, and these things I will save; but as to the bulk of this stuff, why, it's just so much hindering, useless baggage, and this I'll throw away and with the decks cleared start life anew."

The Old Man's Money.

"Did you hear 'bout the old man's experience in the bankin' business?"

"No; what was it?"

"Why, he put $60 in bank—first money he'd ever put there—an' the boys tol' him that he'd better keep a eye on the bank, as they failed mighty frequent, an' he wus liable to lose all."

"Well?"

"Well, he hung round that bank so constant that the bank people got suspicious of him an' thought he wus goin' to blow the bank up. Whenever he seen the cashier come out he follered him round town, always keepin' him in sight. An' it wus the same way with the bank president an' all the clerks. An' when he finally applied fer a job as janitor o' the institution, so's he could be on the spot in case o' trouble, they had him arrested, an' the judge decided that he wuz crazy, an' they wus jest about to send him to a lunatic asylum when his friends explained things, an' the bank folks give him his money an' tol' him to git."—Exchange.

The Inundation.

"If you please, sir," said a verger to a churchwarden in a village, "the new rector is to be inundated next Tuesday week, and I have come to ask you whether you will be able to be present." "Certainly," replied the churchwarden, who was something of a humorist, "and I hope there will be an overflowing congregation."—London Answers.

IRRESISTIBLE SLEEP.

An Experience In the Fierce Cold of Tierra del Fuego.

"Whoever sits down," said Dr. Solander to his company among the hills of Tierra del Fuego, "will sleep, and whoever sleeps will wake no more." The brave doctor and his men had tramped a considerable distance through the swamps, when the weather became suddenly colder and fierce blasts of wind drove the snow before it. In a short time the cold became so intense as to cause the most oppressive drowsiness. Dr. Solander was the first to find the inclination to sleep, and he insisted upon lying down. In vain his companions entreated and remonstrated. He lay down, and when told that he would inevitably freeze to death answered that he desired nothing more than to lie down and die. One of the black servants lay down also. Solander declared himself willing to go on, but begged to be allowed to sleep first, and in a few moments the two men were in a profound sleep. Soon after, those who had been sent forward to kindle a fire returned with the welcome news that the fire awaited them at a short distance. The men happily succeeded in awakening Solander, who, although he had not been asleep five minutes, had almost lost the use of his limbs, and the flesh was so shrunken that his shoes fell from his feet. It was with much urging and assistance that he consented to go on, but all attempts to arouse the black man were futile, and he was left to die.

HE WANTED REST.

What Verdi Did With the Key of a Locked Piano.

Not all the great composers have courted the constant adulation of the world. Verdi used to lament that he was unable to find a refuge, even for a brief space, from the reputation that preceded him wherever he went.

At one time he desired to spend a much needed holiday at the watering place of Montecatini. When he arrived, he found that in one of the apartments assigned to him stood a grand piano of noted make. On the rack, by way of compliment, lay the score of "Il Trovatore." As soon as he caught sight of it the veteran flew into a rage, hastily locked the instrument, threw the score into a corner and, calling for his host, demanded in tragic tones:

"Lead me to the spot that overhangs the steepest precipice!"

Wondering, the host did as he was bidden, and on reaching the summit the maestro, who was almost exhausted from fatigue, flung the key of the piano into the abyss, energetically exclaiming as he did so:

"Now I have done something to secure rest and quiet. On the day of my departure I shall send a locksmith to provide the piano with a new key, but while I am here I pray you let it remain as it is."—New York Tribune.

His Grace.

Little Milly is a good Sunday school scholar and on that account was invited with two or three others to spend the day at the minister's residence by way of reward. When the dinner came on the good man said such a long grace before meat that Milly yawned and looked hungrily at the covers.

"Why are you yawning, Milly?" asked the minister. "Does not your father say grace?"

"Oh, yes," answered Milly promptly, "but it isn't so long as that."

"And what does he say?" pursued the clergyman, hoping to obtain a text for a little homily.

"He says different things, but last time when he sat down he took off the cover and said: 'Great snakes! Do you call this a dinner?'"

The homily was postponed.—Strand Magazine.

The Wrong Shop.

He was only a plain American panhandler, says the New York Globe, but he ordered his "schooner" of Bowery beer with the sang froid of a plain American plutocrat. Midway in its consumption he sidled to the free lunch counter and reduced the pile of big sausages by one.

Two more gulps of beer and a second and third large sausage disappeared. Washing these down, he concluded that he needed a sausage and got it; then for the door.

"Here, Bill," the genial barkeeper called familiarly. "Come back a minute."

The panhandler returned expectantly.

"Say, Bill," the barkeeper continued in a confidential way, "the next time you want a glass of beer you go to a butcher shop, see?"

Is assured you when you buy Dr. Pierce's [illegible] medicine. Every ingredient entering into them is known to be of the highest medicinal value by the most eminent medical writers of all the different schools of practice in this country and Europe. No "secret nostrums" are employed by Dr. Pierce. All the ingredients of his medicines are printed on their bottle-wrappers, and attested under oath. Not a single one of the numerous ingredients of his medicines is concealed from the sick who use them. No one of his medicines contains alcohol, whisky, opium, cocaine, or any other narcotic. No one of his medicines contains any of the poisonous "cure-alls" or "sure cures" found in so many of the secret nostrums now being foisted upon the sick and suffering. Not a drop of alcohol enters into the composition of any of his medicines. They are entirely free from every form of injurious drug. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, although a most potent blood purifier and alterative, is perfectly harmless when taken according to the most delicate woman or [illegible] Not a drop of alcohol enters into the composition of this "Discovery," nor is it sweetened with sugar, honey or syrup, but with pure, refined glycerine. This agent possesses intrinsic medicinal properties of its own, being a most valuable nutrient and antiferment, nutritive and soothing demulcent.

Glycerine plays an important part in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in the cure of indigestion, dyspepsia and weak stomach, attended by sour risings, heart-burn, foul breath, coated tongue, poor appetite, gnawing feeling in stomach, biliousness and kindred derangements of the stomach, liver and bowels.

Besides curing all the above distressing ailments, the "Golden Medical Discovery" is a specific for all diseases of the mucous membranes, as catarrh, whether of the nasal passages or of the stomach, bowels or pelvic organs. Even in its ulcerative stages it will yield to this sovereign remedy if it is persevered in. In Chronic Catarrh of the Nasal passages, it is well, while taking the "Golden Medical Discovery," for the necessary constitutional treatment, to cleanse the passages freely two or three times a day with Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. This thorough course of treatment generally cures the worst cases.

In coughs and hoarseness caused by bronchial, throat and lung affections, except consumption in its advanced stages, the "Golden Medical Discovery" is a most efficient remedy, especially in those obstinate, hanging coughs caused by irritation and congestion of the bronchial mucous membranes. The "Discovery" is not so good for acute coughs arising from sudden colds, nor must it be expected to cure consumption in its advanced stages—no medicine will do that—but for all the obstinate, chronic coughs, which, if neglected, or badly treated, lead up to consumption, it is the best medicine that can be taken.
